

Introductory Paragraph Explaining Managed Care

Your employer has contracted with HealthPartners to provide managed care services for work-related illnesses or injuries. Managed care for workers' compensation is designed to assist employees in receiving prompt, appropriate care and a timely return to work.

Managed care for workers compensation is an effort to improve the quality of health care received by injured workers using a network of competent primary and specialty care providers. The goal of the HealthPartners program is to return injured employees to work as soon as medically appropriate, to help ensure that the medical care is timely and appropriate, and to help control Workers' Compensation costs.
